

Privacy Policy

Protecting your privacy is very important to Republic Public Relations Pty Ltd (Republic). The company is committed to maintaining the security of all personal information provided to Republic by visitors to; and users of our website. This Privacy Policy details how we collect, use and manage this personal information.

What information do we collect and how do we use it?

Republic uses cookies to collect and log certain information about your browsing experience on the website for statistical purposes (see "Cookies" below).

Some sections of this website may also allow you to contact us by email or otherwise. By providing us with this information, you consent to this information being used and disclosed for the purposes of carrying out or responding to your requests, for purposes relating to any third party acquisition or potential acquisition of an interest in Republic or its assets, or any other purposes outlined at the time you provide the information. Republic may need to use your personal information in order to provide certain services to you. For example, without your personal information, we would not be able to contact you or offer employment to you.

Republic may disclose your personal information to our related bodies corporate and to service providers who assist us in providing this website and conducting our business including organisations that provide archival, auditing, professional advice, mail house, delivery, recruitment, technology, utility and security services. Republic may also disclose your personal information to third parties, where you consent to the disclosure or in circumstances where such disclosure is required or authorised by law.

Cookies

Cookies are small data files that a website is able to place on a user's hard drive to record aspects of that user's experience of the website. Like many sites, this website may use cookies from time to time. For example, we may use cookies to record that a user visited a particular section of the website, that their browsing software was a particular version or that they chose not to be on a mailing list. In this way, cookies can improve the operation of the website, and make the experience more efficient, more enjoyable or more personalised.

Importantly, cookies do not need to identify the user or record any personal information. No attempt is made to identify you or your browsing activities except, in the event of an investigation, where a law enforcement agency may exercise a warrant to inspect the service provider's logs, or where your usage is causing technical issues for our site that may need to be resolved and we need to contact you. A notice will be posted on this website if this website attempts to identify individuals from their cookies unless that identification is required by law or to assist in law enforcement.

The default settings of most internet browsers allow cookies. However, users may change their browser settings to disallow cookies. Please note that some parts of this Website may not function fully for users that disallow cookies.

Security

Republic takes reasonable security measures to protect personal information from loss, misuse and from unauthorised access, modification or disclosure. However, there are risks in transmitting information across the Internet. So while we strive to protect such information, we cannot ensure or warrant the security of any information transmitted to us online and individuals do so at their own risk. As far as permissible under law, REPUBLIC accepts no responsibility for the unauthorised access of personal information held by REPUBLIC.

Republic Public Relations Pty Ltd

Suite 1F, Level 1, 33 Queen St.
Brisbane Qld 4000

0417 711 108
hello@republicpr.com.au

republicpr.com.au

Links to other websites

This website provides links to other websites. These websites are not subject to the Republic Online Privacy Statement and Republic is not responsible for the privacy practices of these sites.

Access your information / contact us

If you want further information regarding this Online Privacy Statement or wish to request access to any personal information we hold about you, please contact us using the "Contact Us" section of the Website.

